

Kentucky and Ohio Institute of Transportation Engineers Joint Meeting

DIVERGING DIAMOND INTERCHANGE (as seen in the June 2006 Civil Engineering News)

The diverging diamond interchange directs vehicle to the left side of the road to facilitate merging to and from the interstate. Traffic Signals will be placed where the arterial lanes cross and at left turns on the interstate's off-ramps.

WHAT: A webcast featuring Joe Bared, from FHWA, and Susan McCubbins, from the Missouri DOT. Ms. McCubbins is the Project Manager for the first diverging diamond interchange in the US, scheduled for construction in 2007.

WHEN: July 13, 2006.

TIME: 11:00-11:30 sign in. The 30 minute presentation begins promptly at 11:30 followed by a Q/A session.

WHERE: OKI Regional Council of Government Board Room
720 East Pete Rose Way, 4th floor, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Parking available across the street at the Sawyer Point.

COST: $15. A boxed lunch and drink will be provided.
